

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION
OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGES
WASHINGTON, D.C.

CE GLOBAL NETWORK LLP,

DOCKET NO. 2062(F)

Complainant,

v.

OCEAN LINE LOGISTICS, INC.,

Respondent.

RESPONDENT OCEAN LINE LOGISTICS INC CONSOLIDATED ANSWER AND RESPONSE TO COMPLAINT AND LIMITED SUPPLEMENTAL STATEMENT

Respondent Ocean Line Logistics, Inc. ("Ocean Line") submits this consolidated Answer to the original claim and the Limited Supplemental Statement. Ocean Line denies that Complainant CE Global Network LLP ("CE") is entitled to a $4,875 refund. The contemporaneous records and the Declaration of Wilson Jiang show that the $4,875 was an itemized, paid change-of-destination ("COD") invoice; Ocean Line then paid $5,920 to HMM for this bill of lading; and HMM later applied that payment against total diversion charges of $13,201, leaving $7,281. CE authorized the continued diversion and paid that balance under reservation. Ocean Line collected $12,156 from CE for these two invoices, less than HMM's total $13,201 charge.

Ocean Line did not receive the original claim materials when the August 19, 2026 assignment order was issued. It responded based on the supplemental materials available to it and obtained the original claim only later. Ocean Line respectfully requests that this consolidated Answer and supporting declaration be accepted as completing the record. The short delay was caused by nonreceipt, not disregard of the Commission's order, and acceptance will permit determination on the merits without prejudice to CE.

GENERAL DENIAL AND RESPONSES TO THE ORIGINAL CLAIM

1. Except as expressly admitted, Ocean Line denies every allegation and requested item of relief in the original claim and supplement. Any allegation not expressly admitted is denied.
2. Ocean Line admits that CE is a Singapore freight forwarder and was Ocean Line's customer for the transaction. Ocean Line lacks sufficient knowledge to admit CE's remaining allegations concerning its organization, authority, or the interests of third parties and therefore denies them.
3. Ocean Line admits that it is located at 440 E. Huntington Drive, Suite 300, Arcadia, California 91006, and communicated and invoiced CE. Ocean Link Forwarding, Inc. was used as a co-loader because the HMM service contract was in Ocean Link's name. Ocean Link is not a respondent, and Ocean Line remained CE's customer-facing contracting and invoicing party.
4. Ocean Line admits that this dispute concerns HMM Sea Waybill DALA20444700 and containers KOCU4883698 and SEGU5702890. CE requested that the destination be changed from Singapore to Jebel Ali. HMM processed the request, revised the booking and sea waybill to show Jebel Ali, and assessed charges for that work and the resulting diversion. Ocean Line denies that the COD service was wholly unperformed merely because later regional restrictions prevented completion at Jebel Ali.
5. Ocean Line admits that HMM advised the co-loader on April 7, 2026 that service to Jebel Ali was unavailable due to the Middle East situation and proposed alternatives, including Khor Fakkan. The February 25 COD invoice had already been issued. Ocean Line and the co-loader continued working with HMM; as late as April 14, HMM's revised sea waybill and tracking still reflected Jebel Ali. Ocean Line advised CE on April 16 that Jebel Ali could not be completed and discussed alternatives. Ocean Line denies intentional concealment, unreasonable delay, or that any delay caused CE to pay an otherwise unearned charge.

6. Ocean Line admits receiving $24,875 from CE on April 10, 2026. Of that amount, $4,875 paid Invoice INV-12431 and $20,000 represented four $5,000 container deposits. INV-12431 itemized ocean freight of $3,600, COD of $400, COD handling of $100, shutout of $400, renomination of $150, change of port mark of $150, and bill revision of $75.
7. On April 13, 2026, Ocean Line paid $5,920 to HMM for DALA20444700 and the Jebel Ali COD. HMM later calculated total charges of $13,201, consisting of $12,141 in freight, transshipment, and storage charges plus $1,060 in COD-related adjustments. HMM credited Ocean Line's prior $5,920 payment, leaving $7,281. CE later authorized the Khor Fakkan diversion and paid Ocean Line Invoice INV-12746 for that balance, while reserving its position.
8. Ocean Line denies that the $4,875 was retained without performance, application, or credit. CE paid Ocean Line $12,156 on the two COD-related invoices, while HMM's calculation totaled $13,201. The $5,920 entry was Ocean Line's payment to HMM, not a separate payment by CE and not a credit payable directly to CE. The later $7,281 balance is relevant here only because it demonstrates the application of the earlier payment; Ocean Line does not ask the Commission to adjudicate the propriety of the $7,281 charge that CE has excluded from its requested reparations.
9. Ocean Line denies that it held, blocked, or conditioned movement of DALA20444700 on payment of unrelated invoices. Account statements may have listed other open items, but the subject cargo was rerouted and moved. CE identifies no cross-hold that was actually imposed and no resulting injury.
10. Ocean Line denies that its conduct violated 46 U.S.C. § 41102(c). The claim concerns one shipment and two containers during an extraordinary regional service disruption. CE has not shown that the challenged conduct was normal, customary, and continuous, as required by 46 C.F.R. § 545.4. Nor has CE proved an unjust or unreasonable practice, proximate causation, or reparations.

RESPONSES TO THE LIMITED SUPPLEMENTAL STATEMENT

1. Ocean Line admits that the supplement concerns DALA20444700 and the same two containers. It denies any characterization inconsistent with this Answer.
2. Ocean Line admits that CE limits the principal monetary request in the supplement to $4,875, plus its requested filing fee and interest. Ocean Line denies entitlement to that relief.
3. Denied. The $4,875 was itemized and applied to carrier and transaction costs.
4. Ocean Line admits issuing Invoice INV-12431 dated February 25, 2026 for $4,875 after CE requested the Jebel Ali COD, and admits the invoice was paid.
5. Ocean Line admits receiving CE's April 10 payment. It denies that payment proves nonperformance or unjust enrichment.
6. Ocean Line admits that a later Khor Fakkan routing generated Invoice INV-12746 for $7,281. It denies that the later amount was unrelated to the earlier COD accounting: HMM's final calculation credited the $5,920 Ocean Line had already paid toward this bill of lading.
7. Ocean Line admits that carrier documents and tracking reflected Jebel Ali while HMM and the parties were addressing the service suspension and alternatives. It denies that these records establish an unreasonable practice.
8. Denied. The contemporaneous payment and carrier accounting show application of funds and charges exceeding the total collected from CE.
9. Denied. An additional HMM invoice is not required to prove the application of the $4,875 where Ocean Line's invoice, payment record, HMM's final calculation, correspondence, and sworn testimony establish the transaction.

10. Denied. CE has not established any element of a violation of 46 U.S.C. § 41102(c).
11. Ocean Line states that it did not initially receive the complete original claim materials. It now responds to those allegations in this consolidated Answer.
12. Denied to the extent CE seeks a refund, filing fee, interest, or any other relief.
13. Ocean Line denies that CE may preserve or enlarge claims outside the governing rules and orders.
14. Ocean Line admits only that the documents speak for themselves and denies CE's legal conclusions.
15. Denied. CE is not entitled to the requested relief.

AFFIRMATIVE AND OTHER DEFENSES

1. Failure to establish a Section 41102(c) practice. CE alleges, at most, conduct involving a single shipment. It has not shown conduct occurring on a normal, customary, and continuous basis under 46 C.F.R. § 545.4.
2. Just and reasonable conduct. Ocean Line invoiced itemized charges, paid the ocean carrier, communicated the service disruption, pursued an alternative destination, and completed the diversion CE authorized.
3. No loss or causation. CE has not proved that Ocean Line retained an unapplied $4,875 or that any challenged communication proximately caused compensable loss. The carrier's regional service restriction, not an Ocean Line policy, prevented Jebel Ali delivery.
4. Payment, application, credit, and offset. The $4,875 was part of the funds applied to the carrier and diversion costs. The later carrier accounting credited Ocean Line's $5,920 payment and showed costs greater than the amount collected from CE.
5. Authorization and ratification. CE requested the COD, received the revised routing documents, authorized the alternative Khor Fakkan movement, and paid the remaining amount while reserving legal rights.
6. Failure to mitigate and intervening conditions. Any avoidable storage or related costs resulted from carrier restrictions, routing choices, and timing beyond Ocean Line's control, and CE was obligated to mitigate.
7. No cross-hold injury. CE has not identified an actual hold on this shipment based on unrelated balances or damages resulting from such a hold.
8. Ocean Line reserves the right to amend these defenses if the Administrative Law Judge permits further submissions or discovery.

REQUEST FOR RELIEF

Ocean Line respectfully requests that the Administrative Law Judge accept this consolidated Answer, deny CE's request for a $4,875 refund, filing fee, interest, and other relief, dismiss the complaint with prejudice, and grant any further relief deemed appropriate.

Counsel for Ocean Line Logistics, Inc.

DECLARATION OF WILSON JIANG

I, Wilson Jiang, declare as follows:

1. I am an authorized representative of Ocean Line Logistics, Inc. I have personal knowledge of the matters stated here through my work on this shipment and my review of Ocean Line's records kept in the ordinary course of business. If called as a witness, I could and would testify competently to these facts.
2. CE Global Network LLP was Ocean Line's customer for HMM Sea Waybill DALA20444700, covering containers KOCU4883698 and SEGU5702890. Ocean Line used Ocean Link Forwarding, Inc. as a co-loader because Ocean Link held the applicable HMM service contract. Ocean Line communicated with and invoiced CE.
3. CE requested a change of destination from Singapore to Jebel Ali. HMM processed the request and on February 25, 2026 confirmed that the bill of lading had been updated and the booking and drafts revised. HMM quoted COD and related charges. The revised HMM sea waybill showed Jebel Ali as the port of discharge and place of delivery.
4. Ocean Line issued Invoice INV-12431 to CE on February 25, 2026 for $4,875. The invoice itemized ocean freight of $3,600, COD of $400, COD handling of $100, shutout of $400, renomination of $150, change of port mark of $150, and bill revision of $75. CE paid this invoice on April 10, 2026 as part of a $24,875 remittance. The remaining $20,000 represented four $5,000 container deposits.
5. On April 7, 2026, HMM advised the co-loader that Jebel Ali service was unavailable due to the Middle East situation and suggested checking alternatives, including Khor Fakkan. Ocean Line and the co-loader continued working with HMM on the available routing. HMM's revised sea waybill and online information continued to reflect Jebel Ali during this period. Ocean Line advised CE on April 16 that Jebel Ali could not be completed and discussed alternatives.
6. On April 13, 2026, Ocean Line paid HMM $5,920 for DALA20444700 and the Jebel Ali COD. Ocean Line's payment report identifies HMM, the bill of lading, the Jebel Ali reference, the payment date, and the $5,920 amount. This was Ocean Line's payment to HMM, not an additional payment by CE.
7. HMM later provided its final diversion calculation. HMM listed $12,141 in additional charges: $1,340 for ocean freight to Singapore; $3,600 for the Singapore-to-India feeder; $5,300 for India-to-Khor Fakkan freight; $600 for Singapore transshipment; and $1,301 for storage from April 17 through June 11. HMM also listed adjustments of $400, $60, $450, and $150. These amounts total $13,201.
8. HMM's calculation then applied the $5,920 already paid and stated that $7,281 remained due. Ocean Line issued Invoice INV-12746 for $7,281. CE authorized proceeding with the Khor Fakkan diversion and paid that invoice while reserving its claims. The diversion occurred.
9. Ocean Line collected $4,875 plus $7,281 from CE, or $12,156, for these invoices. HMM's total calculation was $13,201. Thus, Ocean Line did not keep an unapplied $4,875 and did not receive $15 or any other excess on this accounting; Ocean Line bore the $1,045 difference between the HMM calculation and the amount invoiced to CE.
10. To my knowledge, Ocean Line did not impose a hold on DALA20444700 based on unrelated invoices. Ocean Line's broader account statements listed open items, but the subject containers were rerouted and moved.
11. The attached records, including the invoices, HMM correspondence and calculation, revised sea waybill, and Ocean Line payment report, are true and correct copies of records maintained or received in the ordinary course of Ocean Line's business.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on September 10, 2026, at Arcadia, California.

Due to the current situation in the Middle East we are unable to divert CNTRS to AEDXB.

However we can check cost to divert to AEKLF/SAJED, or the other options below.

Please advise how you would like to me proceed.

Once you advise, I will check costs and see if charges that were added cover diversion.

oHi, Mr. Chen

Here is the hmm's calculation.

COD for SGSIN> INNSA> AEKLF

Freight Charges	Freight Kind	AMOUNT USD)	DESCRIPTION	Note
	O/F to SGSIN	1340	670/CNTRx2
	ADD	10,801	FEEDER RATE SGSIN - INNSA $$1800/4H = \3600 FEEDER RATE INNSA - AEKLF $$2650/4H = \5300 SGSIN COSTS T/S 600 (SUT OUT COSTS, RENOM, CHANGE OF PORTMARK) STORAGE COSTS Free for 9 days (4/7 ~ 4/16) & 17th onwards till load (4/17 ~ 6/11) 56 days = USD 1301 (SGD 1680) WAIVED FOR T/S	STORAGE SGD 15/40' per day to incur after 06/11
	DEM/DIT	USD 0
TTL PREPAID CHARGES		12141

ADJUSTMENT
Additional Charges	12141
Paid amount	-5920
1st COD ADF	400
ECC	60
DVS	450
ADD	150
TTL AMT TO BE Paid	7281

You can see the total diversion cost is $12141+400+60+450+150. We charged CE $4875+$7281. We paid hmm $5920 before final diversion. This payment is between Ocean line and HMM. It doesn't affect the total cod cost. CE also agreed all cost and paid.

April 7 HMM told Ocean Link that diversion to Jebel Ali was unavailable but the invoice was already issued and we still worked with hmm to see if still could go to jebel ali. On 4/14 we still received the waybill from hmm showing jebel ali was the destination and hmm web showed same.

April 10 CE paid Ocean Line, including the $4,875. After received payment, we paid $5920 on 4/13 to hmm as attached.

April 16 Ocean Line advised CE that Jebel Ali could not be completed. After worked with hmm back and forth, hmm confirmed there was no way to jebel ali.

Ocean Line used Ocean Link's hmm service contract to do this business as a co-loader. We did same with CE for many shpt before. All emails, invoices were between Ocean line and CE.

CE payment of $24875 is $4875+$20000 deposit of 4 cntr of $5000/each.
