FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

DOCKET NO. 17-02

HANGZHOU QIANWANG DRESS CO., LTD.

v.

RDD FREIGHT INTERNATIONAL INC.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

Respondent RDD Freight International Inc. ("RDD") filed a number of documents this weekend, including a document labeled "RDD's brief in opposition to complainant's motion for summary judgement and in support of RDD's cross-motion for summary judgment" ("Brief") as well as proposed findings of fact; response to Complainant's proposed findings of fact; appendix; and cross-motion to supplement the record. However, the docket does not show that Complainant has filed a motion for summary judgement. See <https://www.fmc.gov/17-02/>. If there is a motion for summary judgement that has been filed and it is missing from the docket, the parties are ordered to immediately email a copy of such motion to secretary@fmc.gov and judges@fmc.gov.

If no motion for summary judgement has been filed, then the brief will be treated as the brief required by the May 30, 2018, order on motion to compel and setting briefing schedule ("Scheduling Order"). This scheduling order stated that "the parties are ordered to present their cases to the undersigned through written briefs, according to the schedule below;" and reiterated that the parties "will now need to present their cases by filing written proposed findings of facts and briefs containing their legal arguments with an appendix containing the documents on which they rely." Scheduling Order at 1-2. RDD was ordered to file by today, July 30, 2018, its "(1) response to Complainant's proposed findings of fact, (2) RDD Freight's proposed findings of fact, (3) brief, and (4) appendix." Therefore, if no motion for summary judgement was filed, the brief will be treated as a brief on the merits as required by the scheduling order.
