Comment: Should be federal clearance requirements for all school districts, not at state level. All children in country get same assurance of safety from child predators. States are not doing it right or well.

PA state law is severely flawed, in that all previous employers must sign off on potential employee's behavior. However, it is up to the employee himself to provide list of previous employers. Therefore, simply waste of paper pushing time in our district (estimated @ 15-20 hrs/wk) since potential employee may simply omit identifying employer who may negatively report about him.
