Our group of 8 adults has made down payments and then postponed our Alaskan cruise twice over the last two years due to COVID-19 restrictions. Four people in our group have decided not to receive Covid vaccinations. All of the members of our group are not comfortable with the idea of wearing masks for an extended time during what is supposed to be a wonderful vacation.

Are we all going to be able to receive full refunds if vaccines are required in order to cruise?

Thank you so much,

Anita Balli Braunwalder
