

“Docket No. 20-15,
Comments on PVO Financial Responsibility Rulemaking.”

In my case, the cruise line offered a choice of cash refund or 125% voucher in 2020. We took the vouchers and booked a cruise in April 2022. However, in 2021 my husband passed away and my daughter was able to have the voucher being transferred to her for the same cruise in 2022. In August 2021, the cruise line cancelled the cruise in April 2022. I would like my original amount cash back instead of 125% voucher. The cruise line only issued another voucher. I had to book for a cruise in 2023 for the same itinerary which only sailed once a year. Should I have the right to get my cash back with my original smaller amount than the voucher 125% because the cruise cancelled my future cruise in 2022?