

Before the Federal Maritime Commission, Washington, DC.

Docket No. 25-08

FormuKleen, Inc.

(Complainant)

vs.

Top Shipping Systems, Corp.

(Respondent)

COMPLAINANT'S FIRST REQUEST FOR DISCOVERY

(to Respondent Top Shipping Systems Corp.)

Pursuant to 46 C.F.R. § 502.141 and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, Complainant FormuKleen, Inc. serves the following discovery requests on Respondent Top Shipping Systems Corp.. These requests are continuing and must be supplemented as required by the Rules. Complainant serves them in light of the pending Motion for Summary Judgment and solely to comply with the deadlines in the Initial Order; service does not concede that discovery is necessary to resolve the motion or to expand the issues presented. If the Commission grants the motion in whole or in part, or otherwise narrows the case, Complainant reserves the right to withdraw, limit, or treat as satisfied any request rendered moot, and asks that Respondent meet and confer promptly to adjust obligations accordingly. Unless modified by order or written stipulation, the response deadlines under the Rules remain in place.

DEFINITIONS

1. “Respondent,” “TSS,” or “you” refers to Top Shipping Systems Corp., its officers, directors, employees, agents, affiliates, and any person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.
2. “Subject shipments” refers to the cargo transported in containers CSHU4047424 and BSIU8431017, as described in the pleadings.
3. “FormuKleen” or “Complainant” refers to FormuKleen, Inc., and its representatives.
4. “Document” shall include all written, printed, typed, or graphic material of any kind, including emails, messages, correspondence, internal memos, invoices, logs, bills of lading, reports, or other data compilations, regardless of format.
5. “Identify” when referring to a person, means provide full name, title, affiliation, and contact information.
6. “Communication” includes all oral or written transmissions of information, whether in person, via telephone, electronically, or otherwise.

INTERROGATORIES

1. Identify all employees, contractors, or agents who were involved in the handling, transportation, storage, release, or diversion of the subject shipments.
2. State the full legal and regulatory basis on which you claim you were not acting as an NVOCC or OTI with respect to the subject shipments.
3. Describe all services rendered by TSS related to the subject shipments, including the dates and nature of each service.

4. Identify all other FormuKleen shipments (by container number) handled by TSS within 90 days before or after the subject shipments.
5. Explain why container BSIU8431017 was diverted to your warehouse and the decision-making process behind that diversion.
6. State whether TSS has ever issued a house bill of lading for any FormuKleen shipment, and if so, identify those shipments.
7. Describe the process by which duties were “advanced” and then revoked, including all applicable company policies or procedures.
8. State the exact amount of the “unrelated outstanding debts” that TSS claims justified withholding delivery of the subject shipments and for what shipments those “unrelated outstanding debts” were for.
9. Identify all individuals who communicated with FormuKleen regarding the retrieval of either subject container.
10. Identify all customers for whom TSS has withheld release of cargo pending unrelated payments within the last 5 years.

REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION

1. All communications between TSS and FormuKleen (including employees and agents) concerning the subject shipments.
2. All internal communications concerning FormuKleen’s account, including decisions to revoke credit terms or reroute shipments.
3. All internal communications concerning FormuKleen shipments.

4. All TSS communications with parties other than FormuKleen relating to all FormuKleen shipments managed by TSS, including the subject shipments.
5. All documents reflecting amounts claimed owed by FormuKleen, including invoices, statements, or account summaries.
6. All records of duties, drayage, warehousing, storage, or other charges paid or advanced by TSS related to the subject shipments.
7. All records of duties, drayage, warehousing, storage, port-related, or other charges paid or advanced by TSS on behalf of FormuKleen for any shipment in addition to the subject shipments.
8. All bills of lading (house or master) related to the subject shipments and to any FormuKleen shipment handled by TSS from January 2024 to present.
9. All documents reflecting any lien, attempted lien, or consideration of a lien related to FormuKleen cargo.
10. All internal or external guidance or policies on when and how to withhold cargo for unpaid debts.
11. All documents showing payments made by FormuKleen to TSS from January 2024 to present.
12. All emails, texts, or written messages between TSS and any FormuKleen representative.
13. All organizational charts or job descriptions showing who was responsible for transportation coordination, customer communication, and financial decision-making during the time of the events at issue.

REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION

1. Admit that you withheld release of the subject shipments due to unpaid charges unrelated to those shipments.
2. Admit that you diverted one or more containers to your own or affiliated warehouse facilities without authorization from Complainant.
3. Admit that you paid port storage fees on FormuKleen's behalf for the subject shipments.
4. Admit that you never formally exercised a lien on the subject shipments.
5. Admit that you were licensed as an NVOCC by the Federal Maritime Commission during the time of the subject shipments.
6. Admit that you have issued house bills of lading for other FormuKleen shipments.
7. Admit that you did not notify FormuKleen in writing of a change in credit terms prior to withholding release of the shipments.
8. Admit that you considered unrelated FormuKleen balances when determining whether to release the subject shipments.
9. Admit that you never obtained written authorization from FormuKleen to reroute or warehouse either of the subject shipments.
10. Admit that you did not provide any itemized invoice or accounting to FormuKleen before withholding delivery of either subject shipment.

Respectfully submitted,

Sara Dandan

Subject: Re: Discovery Responses | Docket No. 25-08

Mr. Raab,

For clarity: this concerns a protective order under 46 C.F.R. § 502.141(j), not a private confidentiality agreement. Under § 502.71(a), we have conferred: I asked you to confirm (multiple times), in principle, whether you would proceed jointly on a standard two-tier order before I spent client resources drafting it; you declined to commit. I also offered to share exemplar FMC two-tier protective orders if you needed guidance, and you did not respond to that offer. To conserve resources, I did not circulate a draft. I will now file the motion unilaterally with a proposed order. We will produce on a rolling basis upon entry of the protective order.

I flagged a verification issue early this morning and served the verified responses the same day. Any timing concern was cured the same day with no prejudice. Document production will begin promptly upon entry of the protective order.

Separately, based on our preliminary review of the RX materials, Respondent's production remains incomplete in the following respects. Under 46 C.F.R. § 502.141(k), please supplement where responsive materials exist or state expressly if none exist:

- Third-party communications (all FormuKleen shipments managed by TSS, including BSIU8431017 and CHSU4047424). The production shows only a limited carrier thread for BSIU; there are no terminal emails, no Equipment Interchange Receipts (EIRs), no drayage dispatch/confirmations, and no third-party correspondence for CHSU, nor for either container with other shipping/transportation service providers. That absence is inconsistent with ordinary business practice and with references in your own communications.
- Organizational charts / job descriptions. None produced identifying who handled transportation coordination, customer communications, and credit/release decisions (including authority to place/maintain holds, divert cargo, revoke credit, or condition release).
- Drayage/warehouse custody records. Terminal EIRs/gate in-out, vendor identity and dispatch/confirmations, yard/warehouse receiving logs, and chain-of-custody/location records while cargo was held "pending payment."
- Accounting and "unrelated balances." A reconciliation tying asserted balances to specific shipments; proofs of payment (bank/wire/ACH) for duties/demurrage/storage allegedly advanced; and payment-application details.
- Policies/SOPs. Written policies governing credit revocation, duties "advance/reversal," conditioning release on account balances, and diversion to warehouse (beyond generic warehouse T&Cs).
- Portal/audit logs. Terminal/carrier portal audit trails or exports (holds/releases with timestamps and user actions) and any corresponding internal system notes.
- Other customers withheld. Records sufficient to show instances (last five years) where release was conditioned on unrelated balances (customer identities may be redacted with a keyed log).
- OTI/NVOCC role evidence. Records supporting your assertion that TSS did not perform OTI/NVOCC functions on the subject moves (or, to the extent applicable, documents reflecting such functions).

If you contend any category above has been produced, please identify the corresponding Bates/RX ranges. Much of the RX set consists of FormuKleen-originated communications or duplicates of records already in our possession; the gaps identified concern materials uniquely within TSS's custody and control (e.g., internal emails, portal/audit logs, terminal EIRs, drayage dispatches, and written policies/SOPs).

We will proceed to file the motion for protective order. Upon entry, we will produce promptly on a rolling basis. The Commission expects counsel to cooperate on routine protections so discovery can proceed efficiently. That did not occur here. We will proceed unilaterally; a standard protective order will resolve this immediately and allow production without risking supplier exposure or misuse of competitively sensitive materials.

Your demand that my client supplement discovery is technically flawed as you do not state with any specificity what you are claiming to be deficient. You just make a blanket statement. Please inform me as to what you feel is inadequate and respond to our discovery which is late.

Mr. Raab,

Your assertion is inaccurate and needlessly inflammatory given the actual record. As our July 29–August 1 correspondence reflects, I promptly raised a joint protective order under 46 C.F.R. § 502.141. Rather than confirm willingness to proceed jointly, you insisted on first seeing a draft while never committing in principle. It is therefore

Sara Dandan <sara@fouroneone.io>

Mr. Raab,

I've reviewed your January 6 letter alongside Respondent's formal discovery responses served in September. I disagree with your characterization that our prior correspondence failed to identify the discovery issues at hand.

For clarity, the discovery requests that remain incomplete or deficient include Requests for Production Nos. 1 through 13. The deficiencies fall into several categories:

1. Internal and External Communications

RFPs 2 and 3 - You have not produced internal communications regarding the decision to revoke credit terms, assert a lien, warehouse the cargo, withhold delivery, or internal communications concerning FormuKleen's account. You now claim the communications were "verbal," yet the underlying actions were substantial and financially significant. If there are no emails, notes, messages, or documentation memorializing these decisions, please confirm that in writing, as it is highly implausible that there were no written communications concerning such key account-level actions. As someone with over two decades of high-level experience as an NVOCC and Ocean Freight Forwarder, I can say with confidence that such decisions do not occur without written communication, whether by email, system logs, internal messaging, or otherwise. The claim that everything was handled verbally is not credible.

RFP 4 - You object to producing communications between TSS and third parties concerning FormuKleen shipments. That objection is without merit. Communications with drayage providers, warehouse facilities, customs brokers, or other vendors are directly relevant to understanding both the scope of Respondent's role in relation to these shipments and the actions your client took that are at the heart of this Complaint. That relevance is precisely why you've objected, and Respondent must produce these communications in full for the two subject shipments. If Respondent acted lawfully and did not act as an OTI for these shipments (despite admitting otherwise in prior filings, such as the Response to the Complaint), there should be no hesitation to produce documentation that would confirm that. If the communications are exculpatory, one would expect your client to be eager to disclose them. .

2. Account Records and Scope of Production

Your client continues to limit production to two shipments, despite asserting that it relied on "unrelated outstanding balances" to withhold release. That makes the other transactions and charges directly relevant. Requests 5, 6, 7, 8, and 11 clearly seek billing records, account summaries, payment records, and BOLs extending back to January 2024. You've now stated that "aging reports" and certain RX ranges have been produced, but you've offered no mapping of those Bates numbers to specific requests, nor any confirmation as to what is complete or what still remains outstanding. Providing documentation of aging reports for RFP 7 is not an appropriate response to Complainant's request for "All records of duties, drayage, warehousing, storage, port-related, or other charges paid or advanced by TSS on behalf of FormuKleen for any shipment in addition to the subject shipments."

More importantly, Respondent has admitted that it advanced charges on behalf of FormuKleen, including port storage and other third-party costs. Those advances are referenced repeatedly in your client's narrative. Records showing these charges - including invoices paid, amounts advanced, vendor names, and corresponding payment confirmations, are directly responsive to Requests 5 through 7.

Your refusal to produce them appears strategic: these documents go to the heart of whether Respondent acted as an Ocean Transportation Intermediary (OTI) or Non-Vessel-Operating Common Carrier (NVOCC) by assuming financial responsibility for third-party charges. That makes them not just discoverable, but central to this proceeding.

3. Policies, Roles, and Disclaimers

You've asserted that no written policies or SOPs exist, but have not confirmed whether any emails, memos, disclaimers, or internal guidance exist regarding when or how your client withholds cargo, revokes credit terms, or applies liens. That information is squarely responsive to Requests 10 and 13 and remains outstanding.

Respondent has repeatedly (and incorrectly) asserted that it had a lawful right to withhold cargo based on written lien terms in its invoices, warehouse receipts, and other documentation. Yet in response to RFP 10, which squarely asks for those documents, it claims there are no written guidelines "that Respondent is aware of." That is internally inconsistent. If Respondent intends to rely on those written documents to justify its conduct, it must produce them. If you are now disavowing reliance on those terms, please confirm that in writing.

4. Outstanding Supplementation

For RFP's 1,2,3,5,6,7, and 12: you stated in various written form that documentation would be forthcoming, and no meaningful supplementary documentation has been produced.

Additionally:

Respondent's discovery responses include commentary ("the absence of SOPs doesn't excuse nonpayment") rather than direct, complete answers. That tone is not appropriate in formal discovery responses and suggests an attempt to litigate rather than comply.

To date, Respondent has mostly only produced materials already in Complainant's possession, such as communications initiated by Complainant, account statements sourced from our client, and standard documents exchanged in the ordinary course of business. Respondent has produced virtually nothing that originated internally. This pattern of selective production suggests an attempt to evade discovery obligations by limiting responses to what Complainant already knows or possesses. That is not compliance.

Unless full and complete responses are served within 10 days and these deficiencies are cured, Complainant will proceed with a motion to compel.

Dear Ms. Dandan:

This email responds to your January 6, 2026 correspondence. We have produced the documents currently located and available responsive to your Requests for Production that are not objectionable.

Requests for Production Nos. 2 and 3: To the extent you seek communications, there were verbal communications. We have produced the materials that have been located.

Request for Production No. 4: This request is overly broad. Many of the shipments encompassed by your request have nothing to do with this matter. I also note that you objected to producing documents from any other shipments as well. That said, arrival-related documents for the shipments at issue were included in the production, including telexed release documents RX000111 and RX000102, and arrival notices at RX000511. In addition, RX000505 is a bill received from a third party. Bills of lading received from inland carriers were produced at RX000510, RX000513, and RX000514.

Request for Production No. 5: You request all documents concerning invoicing and state that we have not specifically Bates-stamped them. Please see, among others, RX000092–RX000095, RX000500, RX000503–RX000509, and RX000516–RX000538, which include invoices paid to others related to these shipments, as well as aging reports (including reports dating back to January 1, 2024). These materials include documents reflecting funds advanced by my client and invoices from various third parties.

Request for Production No. 7: You request all records from “any shipments.” We have produced aging records without limitation. Your request is unreasonable and would take an inordinate amount of time to search for and collect records having nothing to do with the shipments at issue, particularly where it appears you seek every communication regarding unpaid invoices. Your client is aware it owed money and now seeks to shift the burden to my client to locate and produce documents relating to numerous previously undisputed bills.

Requests for Production Nos. 10 and 13: None. My client has no documents responsive to these requests.

Finally, I note that you did not correlate your Bates-stamped documents to specific requests. Please correct that deficiency

Very truly yours,

Daniel W. Raab

Mr. Raab,

I have reviewed your email. Your responses remain incomplete and, in several respects, ambiguous.

1. Requests for Production Nos. 2 and 3

Saying communications were “verbal” does not address the absence of internal documentation regarding credit revocation, lien assertion, warehousing, withholding release, and account handling decisions. Your statement that you have produced materials “that have been located” is not a completion statement. Please confirm whether Respondent is taking the position that no responsive internal written communications exist, including emails, texts, internal messaging, notes, system entries, task tickets, accounting notes, or other records memorializing these actions. If that is your position, state it expressly.

Also, please identify the custodians searched and the sources reviewed for RFPs 2 and 3, including email accounts, mobile devices, internal chat platforms, and operational or accounting systems.

2. Request for Production No. 4

Your objection continues to misstate the request. RFP 4 seeks third-party communications regarding FormuKleen shipments, including the shipments at issue. The arrival notices, telex releases, and a third-party bill you cite do not satisfy the request for communications with third parties that performed services on these shipments. Respondent necessarily communicated with third parties to clear customs, arrange drayage, coordinate warehousing, move the shipments, and manage release and delivery. Those communications are directly relevant to Respondent’s role and conduct with respect to the shipments at the heart of the Complaint.

Please produce all responsive third-party communications for the two shipments at issue, including communications with the drayage vendor, the truck yard, the warehouse, the inland carrier(s), other forwarders/NVOCCs involved in the shipment of these containers, and any customs-related vendors. This includes emails, texts, dispatch communications, portal messages, invoices with accompanying correspondence, delivery appointments, release instructions, and any status updates exchanged with third parties.

3. Request for Production No. 5

Thank you for the RX ranges provided. Please confirm that these ranges represent a complete production of invoicing and accounting documents for the shipments at issue, including any documentation linking each and every advanced charge to the shipment and the customer account.

4. Request for Production No. 7

You state you produced aging records “without limitation.” Please confirm whether those aging records include the full account history from January 1, 2024 to present and identify the shipments and charges that comprised the “unrelated outstanding balances” Respondent claims justified withholding release. Your narrative commentary about what Complainant allegedly knew is not a discovery response and does not substitute for producing records supporting Respondent’s asserted balances and alleged right to withhold cargo based on them.

5. Requests for Production Nos. 10 and 13

Your “none” response is internally inconsistent with Respondent’s repeated reliance on written terms and conditions of invoices and warehouse receipts to justify lien rights and withholding release. If Respondent is relying on invoice terms, warehouse receipts, conditions, disclaimers, or any written language to justify its conduct, those documents are responsive and must be produced under RFP 10. If Respondent is disavowing reliance on any written terms, policies, guidance, or documentation to justify withholding cargo, confirm that expressly.

For RFP 13, if Respondent has no organizational charts, that does not answer whether job descriptions, role descriptions, emails identifying decision-makers, or other records exist showing who was responsible for transportation coordination, customer communication, and financial decision-making during the relevant period. Confirm whether any such documents exist and produce them.

6. Bates correlation

Your email asserts Complainant did not correlate Bates-stamped documents to specific requests. Respondent likewise has not provided a meaningful request-by-request correlation for its production. Once Respondent completes its production and provides a complete response, Complainant will provide an updated correlation for its own production in good faith. In the interim, Respondent should identify, request-by-request, what specific RX ranges it contends satisfy each request and whether production is complete.

Unless these deficiencies are cured and the requested clarifications are provided within 7 days (February 3, 2026), Complainant will proceed with a motion to compel.

RE:25-08

Via email to :Sara Dandan <sara@fouroneone.io>

Dear Ms. Dandan,

Attached is a prior communication you sent to my office. We are responding in good faith to clarify our position and to address your concerns regarding document production.

At the outset, your correspondence does not identify the specific request number or numbers you contend are inadequate, which makes it difficult to assess the alleged deficiencies. Nevertheless, we have carefully reviewed your correspondence and are responding in an effort to resolve this issue cooperatively.

My client has made, and continues to make, a good-faith effort to produce non-privileged documents in its possession, custody, or control that are relevant to the subject shipments at issue in this proceeding. My client will limit production to documents related to those two shipments. Requests seeking documents spanning the last five years appear overbroad and not proportional to the needs of this case and not likely to lead to the discovery of admissible/ evidence.

My client does not maintain organizational charts. With respect to drayage, we are producing the documents in our possession that relate to the shipments at issue. Aging reports were previously produced, and additional invoices are attached to this correspondence and labeled as fCHSU4047424 PROOF OF PAYMENTS RX00500 - RX00516, BSIU8431017 PROOF OF PAYMENTS RX000517-RX000534, and ACCOUNT AGING AND LOAN RX000535 - RX000538.

My client does not have a written standard operating procedure. In any event, the absence of a written SOP does not excuse your client's failure to satisfy its payment obligations.

Your request for information concerning other alleged client revocations over the past five years is not relevant to the claims or defenses in this matter and is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Additionally, your request for documents purporting to show that my client was not acting as an OTI or NVOCC on these shipments is improper, as it seeks to require my client to prove a negative and to support a legal conclusion regarding conduct that did not occur.

Notwithstanding these objections, my client has produced, and will continue to produce, responsive and relevant documents related to the shipments at issue in an effort to resolve discovery in good faith and avoid unnecessary disputes.

If you believe that any specific request, identified by number, remains unresolved, please let us know so that we may continue to confer in good faith.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Daniel W. Raab

Dear Ms. Dandan:

Your concerns were addressed in prior correspondence. We have made every effort to cooperate with you and have conferred in good faith. Respondent has produced all documents in its possession, custody, or control responsive to Complainant's Requests for Production that are required by the applicable discovery rules. After a diligent search, and to the best of Respondent's knowledge, you have been provided with all of the appropriate documents and there is no need to reiterate matters already repeatedly dealt with in prior communications.

Very truly yours,

Daniel W. Raab

Mr. Raab,

Complainant gave you ample opportunity to cure your deficiencies and will file a motion to compel in response to Respondent's unwillingness to participate in the process of discovery in good faith.

Regards,
