Docket No. 20-03- Earlean Edwards Dukart v. Ocean Star International Inc.,d/b/a International Van Lines

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are responding to the above referenced Docket No. We were unpleasantly surprised to receive such a packet as we read through pages and pages of statements speaking of medical issues like; loss of consciousness, seizures, emergency room visits by ambulance, blood pressure, dehydration, malnutrition, fatigue, exhaustion, and emotional breakdown. (page 10 of 62 item 26).

On page 30 of 62 (item f1) it says' "Temperatures are well above the 86 degree allowance for transportation of our elderly dog have been surpassed". Lastly, on page 38 of 62, V. (under) Damages, it says: "As of authoring of this document, the method of shipping belongings is unknown and unsecured. ED and spouse have essentially been "camping" for more than a year with all possessions in storage in Denver, CO."

The person who says; "As of authoring this document" is referring to himself David Rejon, a "Businessman / Justice of the Peace" in Corazal Town, Belize, who obviously has not been made aware by the person he is representing, (ED), that our company parted ways with ED in July 2018, and did NOT handle an overseas shipment to Belize for ED, but instead released it to another carrier of ED's choosing.

If these are all true statements, they are traumatic experiences for anyone, and not to make light of it, but we just don't know what any of this has to do with us, as we never did this shipment to Belize.

At close examination of shipper's comments, she was not happy with the process and that we could not get possession of a sea container within her preferred timeframe. The couple VOCCs (Evergreen or Zim Lines) that our company works with, and that service that trade lane, had no quick availability of sea containers, so the shipper decided to hire another shipping company which we believe to be Johnson International, and her contact person was Dawne Harris, which is mentioned in her complaint and in emails we are providing in this response as well.

In this response, we have included emails from our Relocation Coordinator (Scott Kalinowski) at the time (no longer with our company), as well as some emails wit Karin Neuber, our Logistics Mgr. It appears that ED had advised Karin that she was delivering some additional storage boxes to the Public Storage facility where the rest of her items were being stored, and requesting an address where she could drop those storage boxes off. However, the facility manager then informed us that ED had Packrat drop off large PODs which were not allowed on their premises.

So some of the issues we faced that caused severing of the relationship were, container availability, not quick enough, delivering PODs to the Public Storage facility, and demanding that we stuff items into the cupboards of her many bookshelves, (pics included).

Finally, we took the extra step to contact Dawne Harris Team Leader at Baron Worldwide (formally known as Johnson International) which ED includes in this complaint a June 18, 2018 email from Samuel Bassin / President discussing the logistics of them picking up the items that were stored in the Colorado whse (see Exhibit 7) of complaint sent to us by the FMC

Upon speaking to Dawne Harris on February 11, 2020, as soon as we mentioned Earlean Edwards Dukart's name, she immediately remembered the fiasco the nightmarish events in having to deal with ED, even though it is approaching 2 years.

She advised us that ED was making up a lot of stories and when they were attempting to collect payment, a couple of credit cards were declined. They spotted a container at the Colorado whse for loading, but then canceled due to difficulties in dealing with ED. Ms Harris advised their company was charged for a "dry run of the sea container, and when ED refused to pay, they put her in collections".

Ms. Harris was kind enough to forward a November 19, 2018 email from Mr. Samuel Bassin / President showing that they canceled the services. We have included a copy of that email in this response in the event the FMC want to contact Baron Worldwide to confirm the facts we have stated in this response.

In closing, it is evident that even though our company released the items in storage to ED in July 2018, after her payment cleared, it is evident that even the new shipping company she hired, had difficulty working with her, and seems from their email it finally ended in November 2018.

Please remove from FMC's Federal Register as the evidence included will show we are dealing with a very irrational person, and these are all fabrications. Furthermore, and most importantly this is not an overseas shipment handled by our company.

Thank you

Management

I need a specific date to schedule the storage box deliveries to the warehouse. Since it has not been set up yet there is a request for a 40' hi cube.

Earlean,

We have provided you with a breakdown of the total charges. You have been charged for the crating of the pool table, wrapping of the items (not full packing), loading the items into the truck, unloading the items into the storage unit, reloading the items from storage into your movers truck or container (once we have received payment), one month of storage, and the cancellation fee.

The error in regards to the packing was made by our accounting team, in speaking with Nico and looking at your quotation, this was never to be a full pack job. Therefore, our accounting team revised the invoice to reflect only the services we have rendered.

Please let us know when you will be transacting the payment so we can let our crew know when they will need unload the storage unit.

Earlean,

We will have our accounting dept adjust the invoice removing the $500.00 for reloading. That is the last time we will be revising the invoice as we have all spent way too much time on this. As soon as you receive it, payment must be made. If not, another month of storage will be added.

The reason ~~storage was applied is because you~~ needed to be out of your home. Also, please refer to your contract for "equipment availability" under item 18.

Earlean,

I thought you wanted us to get in contact with her as she is now your designated mover that will be handling your shipment and the unloading of the storage unit? If that is not the case, who will you have available this Saturday morning to remove the contents from the storage unit? Our foreman can be there at 9:00am to open the unit. Whoever is removing the items will need sign off on our inventory list as they are now taking possession of the items.

Earlean,

This is getting pretty ridiculous at this point. On Friday when I asked what date worked for you, you responded with "TODAY". Miraculously I was able to make that happen by getting our foreman there and you did not show up. Please note we will not coordinate another thing on this shipment until you call me to discuss verbally. At that time I will have a colleague in my office to verify what is being discussed and I will also be calling my foreman so we can schedule a pick up date & time that works for everyone.

Back into the circle of no response... I will not sign off until the inventory list is checked, not before. I will not be forced to say everything is there before I am allowed to check it and truly know each inventory piece is accounted for less the two pieces I know didn't make it.

Terms and Conditions of Service

1. Our international full service shipping proposals include the service of clearing customs by an OSI customs broker unless otherwise indicated. The service does not include the destination local government agencies fees if any, or duties or taxes if applicable or otherwise indicated. It is the responsibility of the shipper to ensure that the consignee's name correlates with all documentations necessary for customs clearance (ex passport, visa etc.). Customs regulations are subject to change at any time. Any information OSI may have provided is a brief summary of customs regulations applicable to household goods shipments to your destination and is occasionally being provided for general guidance to assist our agents and customers. Since such regulations are subject to change without notice, OSI cannot be held liable for any costs, damage, delays, or other detrimental events resulting from non-compliance. It is the consignee's responsibility to check with the local embassy or consulate for any regulatory requirements and obtain/ provide all documentation needed to facilitate their customs clearance.

2. Furniture packing and crating costs and that of box packaging (if necessary) is subject to actual utilization of both material and labor on moving day. Final invoice shall reflect total charges per actual materials usage including all amounts necessary for securing your load into the appropriate container.

3. Estimated total charges during the quotation process are simply a cost estimate based on a variety of factors not the least of which are: submitted inventory list in verbal or written form, national cubic footage averages for common household items, visual surveys, etc. Final charges may vary if one of these factors differs from the quotation interview prior to booking.

4. Estimated Time of Pickup is based on your desired date in conjunction with the appropriate time of day as determined by the carrier's normal schedule. While every effort is made to provide you with a timely pickup, OSI shall not be held liable for delay or missed pick up caused by highway obstruction, faulty or impassable highway, lack of capacity of any highway, bridge, or ferry, or caused by breakdown of mechanical defects of vehicles, equipment, or from any cause due to negligence of the carrier; nor shall the carrier be bound to transport by any particular schedule, means, vehicle or otherwise than with reasonable dispatch. The carrier reserves the right in regards to the routing, method of transportation, selection of carrier and delivery agent. The assigned carrier shall have the right in the case of physical necessity to forward said property by any carrier or route between the point of shipment and the point of destination.

5. Estimated Time of Arrival is determined by the shipping line and is listed on their Booking Confirmation. All shipping lines reserve the right to schedule changes while in transit should they deem this necessary. While not guaranteed, most shipments arrive at port within 30-60 days of sailing date. This time estimate is based on a compilation of past experience of shipping time frames for specific regions. In addition, this shipping time estimate begins from the first date of complete payment of final invoice or receipt of the required customs/contact documents if applicable. OSI cannot be held liable for any unforeseen actions that would delay a shipment's arrival date such as, but not limited to natural disasters, port/terminal issues, government involvement, port authority/customs intervention, labor strikes, increased examinations due to heightened security alerts, etc.

6. It is highly recommend that Marine Insurance coverage be purchased for your international shipment. While every effort is taken to provide the most secure method of transporting your goods, accidental damage/loss does occur on a seldom/random basis. If insurance is purchased, you must itemize the articles of concern and provide this list to our office. The insurance endowment will be filed based on your declaration of the shipment's value and the premium amount will be assessed on your final invoice. All terms and conditions of coverage are subject to the Insurance policy. All claims, if any, should be submitted by the Consignee directly to the Insurance Company of record. OSI is the carrier for your shipment, not the insurance underwriter and will not be responsible for any claim you may have. If you choose not to purchase insurance, you are waiving your right for reimbursement in case of damage or loss. If you choose not to insure you hereby declare that OSI has offered marine insurance coverage for your shipment. In addition, if coverage is declined by the shipper/consignee, neither you nor any person or entity acting on your behalf shall assign, grant, authorize or allow any subrogation of your rights against OSI in connection with your shipment. OSI shall be indemnified and held harmless for any loss incurred if this agreement is breached as a result of any claim or action of subrogation or otherwise asserted by any third party in connection with your shipment. All Platinum Plus (All Risk) insurance endowments are subject to a $500 deductible per occurrence which must be met prior to any claim being paid. It is mandatory that all professionally packed customers (mover packed) purchase Platinum Plus insurance coverage (All Risk).

7. Additional charges will apply, but are not limited to inaccessible or difficult entry; stairs and long carry situations and other unforeseen hindrances determined on moving day and/or during the delivery at destination (if applicable). All freight charges are issued to mainland points/countries only. Additional charges will apply for ferry or shuttle service to islands, outer islands and non-mainland points.

8. Our local moving agent and/or shipping line have the right to determine whether crating or palletizing is necessary for the safety of your belongings.

9. For vehicle/boat shipments, you must provide our office (or the carrier in some cases) the original title, a signed/notarized power of attorney authorizing OSI to ship your vehicle/boat. In addition, you will be provided a dock receipt by email that must be given to the carrier to be stamped at the port of entry. Any delays in the processing of your shipment as a direct result of incomplete documentation shall be the responsibility of the shipper.

10. Deposits are non refundable on cancellations. However, deposits are transferrable or can be applied toward future shipments with OSI.

11. While final charges for all ocean shipments are contingent on the total volume of said shipment, final charges for air shipments are contingent on volume or weight, whichever is greater. Trucking shipments and all intermodal transportation are based on interim weight of your shipment. Intermodal companies reserve the right to add a bunker or fuel surcharge if there is a substantial weight difference between the estimated and actual weight. Shipment volume is determined by an independent third party such as the local moving agent, intermodal company or shipping line at the receiving terminal. Unless otherwise noted, your shipment will be either palletized or crated so as to prevent harm during the shipping process. Final dimensions include all space occupied by the palletizing and crating process.

12. All shipments are subject to a standard documentation / S.E.D. (Shippers Export Declaration) fee for processing insurance documents if insurance is purchased, bill of lading, shipping instructions to carrier, forwarding all necessary documents to carrier or destination agent. While every attempt is made to consider all charges for the delivery of your goods, certain charges are always excluded from our estimates/invoices, unless otherwise noted in your contract. These charges include, but are not limited to port, terminal and container service charges at destination, parking space reservation if needed, temporary or non-household goods customs clearance, inspections and/or scanning charges, quarantine charges, excessive delays at customs points, unexpected increase in road taxes/fees, handling of different weight or volume, emergency bunker charges, chassis fee, scale fee, toll fees, war risk surcharges, import duties and taxes if applicable at destination, storage/demurrage, wharfage, detention/ waiting time by trucker or drayman difficult access delivery, long carry, shuttle service, hoisting, fuel, in-house delivery above 1st floor, etc.

13. All final invoices must be paid in full within 72 hours of invoice date to insure timely processing of your shipment and to avoid storage/administrative charges.

14. While every effort is made to make your relocation a pleasant and efficient experience, disagreements sometimes occur. Depending on the stage within the shipping process, we request that you submit your information in writing to the contact email designated in your customer packet. Your submission will then be reviewed by upper management for accuracy, clarification, determination and resolution. Said resolution will be presented to you in writing shortly thereafter. OSI is committed to exemplary customer service and will do everything within reasonable limits to effect a satisfactory resolution. During this phase, you are required to maintain all communications between OSI personnel and yourself in the utmost confidence and will not forward, display publicly, post online or otherwise reveal the nature of any internal communications as it is considered privileged information and may hinder the negotiation process. Any final settlement reached is further bound by this confidentiality agreement and the shipper/consignee consents to the jurisdiction and venue of any court of general jurisdiction of Broward County, Florida and any legal proceedings arising out of this Agreement shall be brought only in such courts.

15. ABANDONMENT OF CARGO: If the shipper or consignee does not respond to repeated communication regarding an unpaid invoice or does not arrange to pick-up cargo at destination after alerts have been sent, after 30 days OSI reserves the right to consider the cargo abandoned and give order of destruction of cargo before storage fees at origin begin to accrue or demurrage/storage fees begin to accrue at destination. OSI cannot and will not allow charges by warehouses or steamship lines to accrue to OSI's account due to a shipper's or consignee's irresponsible act. Furthermore any fees charged by the warehouse or steamship line associated with the disposal of the cargo will be to the account of the shipper/consignee. Even if cargo is disposed of, the shipper/consignee is not absolved from these charges or any unpaid invoice(s) due to OSI in association with the shipment, and these fees will automatically be charged to your credit card on file. In addition, if disposal of cargo should occur for the reasons mentioned in this paragraph, OSI shall be indemnified and held harmless for any loss and no legal action shall be brought against OSI or any of its associates.

16. Pick-up dates are subject, but not limited to changes by the shipping line and/or intermodal company responsible for shipping your household goods. Every effort will be made to retain your scheduled date, yet unforeseen circumstances may prevent a timely pick-up. In this case, dispatch will work diligently to find a solution so as to prevent as much inconvenience as possible.

17. To secure your move, we require a nominal deposit as listed in your offer. Acceptable forms of payment are credit card, wire transfer, cashier's check and money order. Balance is due within 3 business days after the invoice has been issued with a credit card, personal or business check, money order, cashier's check or wire transfer and made payable to OSI, but please be aware that a 4% convenience fee will be applied if you choose to pay by credit card. All personal and business checks must be processed through ACH (Automated Clearing House) network; a $5.00 processing fee will apply. Shipment will not depart origin until the final payment has been received. If shipment does not depart, storage fees will begin to accrue after 7 days. A late fee of 2% (of your invoice) per day will begin to accrue 3 business days after the final invoice has been issued. All payments or adjusted balance, if any, must clear the bank posting system in order to release your shipment and continue service. A non-sufficient check issued to OSI will incur a minimum service fee of $150.00. It is considered fraudulent to pay for services with a check that is returned for insufficient funds. It is also unlawful to place a stop payment on any personal check authorized by shipper in exchange for services rendered.

18. All shipping contracts are subject to GRI (General Rate Increase) issued by the shipping line as is deemed necessary for them to do so according to maritime law. All bookings are subject to carrier's equipment and space availability which may affect the final invoice.

I have read and understand the content of this document and I agree to be bound by the terms and conditions herein.

Limited Liability

By signing this contract, the consignee fully acknowledges that any and all contract-based and/or tort-based claims under this contract are fully assigned to the designated carrier. This contract unambiguously states that any and all disputes arising from this contract are between the consignee and the assigned carrier. OSI or our agents shall under no circumstances be liable for any loss, damage, expense or delay to the goods for any reason whatsoever when such goods are in the custody, possession or control of third party selected by the carrier to forward, enter and clear, transport or render other services with respect to such goods. By signing this contract, the consignee fully acknowledges that OSI cannot be held vicariously liable for the errors and omissions of others.
