Claimant,

v.

CHRIS PHILLIPS,
PAUL KNOTT,

Respondents.

CLAIMANT REPLY TO

PAUL KNOTT RESPONSE TO MAY 17, 2024 ORDER
TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTS AND INFORMATION

Docket No. 1999(F)

REQUEST NO. 1. Provide documents reflecting your agreement with Claimant for the transportation at issue, including emails if available. Please provide the documents regardless of whether the agreement was made with InXpress or with you as an individual.

RP RESPONSE: Respondent produces herewith nonprivileged documents bates stamped KNOTT00001-KNOTT00013 that are responsive to this request.

CA REPLY: The documents KNOTT00001 (Account Application and Payment Authorization), and KNOTT00002-KNOTT00009 (Terms and Conditions), define the agreement between WCG Group, LLC (aka Aitoh) as the Customer/Consignee, "InXpress 144" (aka InXpress NY) for the services, and InXpress LLC (aka InXpress Americas) for the payments.

Moreover, the agreement reflecting the agreement with the Claimant is definitely proved by these emails AITOH-03 dated Sep 8, 2020.

This agreement is de facto confirmed by the two invoices from InXpress, LLC "On behalf of InXpress 144 EIN 26-4207982" [sic] and the relevant financial transaction records showing that the beneficiary of the payments executed by Aitoh was InXpress, LLC. KNOTT000011-KNOTT000013.

These two invoices were supposedly relevant to the services provided by Forin Container Line for halting the cargo even if we do not have direct evidence. KNOTT0000014- KNOTT0000018.

The invoice from Forin Container Line was originally received by Bluecat (the shipper) and then Aitoh (the consignee). Eventually, Aitoh forwarded the invoice to Chris Phillips, and he told us he was going to take care of it. After a few days we received the 1st invoice from InXpress.

At this point we are not anymore sure that the first invoice from InXpress was for the services from Forin Container Line: the "description" on the InXpress invoice indicated 16 packages instead of 2 pallets/craters and the weight also didn't match the information provided by Forin Container Line nor the Bluecat Packing List. /AITOH-06, AITOH-07/

However, it is a fact that we paid the invoice to InXpress LLC and they surely have better records of what this first invoice and the second invoice were for.

Therefore, based on the Respondent's documentation and other factors, Aitoh infers that any additional invoices for services provided by third parties, along with shipping documents (such as HBL, MBL, PO, and Insurance declarations), should have been received by InXpress NY and subsequently paid to InXpress LLC by Aitoh.

REQUEST NO. 2(a) What roles did InXpress Americas, InXpress NY, Ocean Network Express ("ONE") and Ex-Freight play in the transportation of the cargo at issue?"

RP RESPONSE to 2(a): ... ONE, with the Vessel MV ONE APUS 006E / W was the actual carrier of the goods for Claimant. ... Ex-Freight is the broker

RP Response to 2(a) is in contradiction with what was reported in the invoice from Forin Container Line /KNOTT00014-KNOTT00018/. In details the Invoice shows the following:

Shipping Bill No. / Date 5602111/Oct 3rd, 2020
Vessel X PRESS JERSEY
Voyage V-20010
Container KCSU8889270
Customer Forin Container Line
Shipper Bluecat Paper
Agent CTL LAX, INC
ETD 10/14/2020 POL Chennai Sea
ETA 12/13/2020 Destination: Los Angeles

Aitoh assumes that Forin Container Line (not explicitly mentioned by the Respondents), was likely hired by ExFreight or CTL LAX Inc. to pick up 2 crates from BlueCat's door to up the Port of Chennai and for loading the container KCSU8889270/40 HQ on the vessel X-PRESS Jersey V20010 /KNOTT000016/.

Furthermore, as is evident from the e-mail from Sherry Johnson on behalf of Ocean Network Express, Pte., Ltd, /KNOTT000039/:

"... Without prejudice and on behalf of Ocean Network Express, Pte., Ltd., ... the information that you [Chris Phillips] have provided does not indicate that the shipment was on board the ONE Apus 006E / W, nor does it show that the container noted [KCSU8889270/40 HQ] was on the manifest for the vessel. ",

Therefore, based on the documentation provided, Aitoh' s shipment was NOT on ONE Apus and not even the container KCSU8889270/40 HQ was on the manifest of the vessel and therefore ONE was NOT "the actual Carrier of the goods for Claimant" [sic].

It is not clear at this point why Forin Container Line sent the advice about the accident occurred to the ONE APUS. The information provided is in contradiction with the fact that Aitoh's cargo was loaded by Forin Container Line itself on a different vessel.

After all, since InXpress NY "booked an import thru ExFreight Zeta Inc." as per KNOTT000040, based on ExFreight's Terms and Conditions, InXpress NY was required to review all documents and declarations prepared and/or filed with third parties (i.e. Forin Container Line and Charter Link Logistic) and immediately advise ExFreight of any errors, discrepancies, incorrect statements, or omissions on any declaration or other submission filed on Aitoh's behalf.

Based on the above responses and reasoning, Aitoh assumes that that Forin Container Line (co-loader) was hired by ExFreight (Freight Forwarder) that in turn was hired by InXpress NY, and that Aitoh cargo was staffed into the container KCSU8889270 by Forin Container Line and the container itself was NOT on board of the vessel ONE Apus but rather X-PRESS Jersey that was likely operated by HMM Co., Ltd. /KNOTT000025/REQUEST NO. 2(b) Explain the corporate and business relationship between InXpress Americas and InXpress NY.

RP RESPONSE to 2(b): “There is a franchisor/franchisee relationship between InXpress and InXpress NY. Upon information and belief, InXpress NY worked with Claimant related to filing a claim for the loss of goods, and Ex-Freight was the broker responsible for hiring ONE.”

CA REPLY: The response does not clarify the peculiarity (if any) of the relation between the franchise InXpress NY and the franchisor InXpress Americas and therefore, based on this Response, RP Response No. 1, and other considerations, Aitoh assumes that the business relations between franchisor (InXpress, LLC/InXpress Americas) and franchisee (InXpress NY) was as following:

- InXpress NY handled Aitoh's shipping needs, provided personalized customer service, and set up the shipments using InXpress LLC's proprietary software.
- The franchisor (InXpress, LLC) supported the franchisee (InXpress NY) by managing back-office accounting, including payments, invoices, billing, and collections.

Also, it is not clear upon what information the Respondent states that ONE was hired by ExFreight. After all, it doesn't seem ExFreight ever filed a claim with ONE.

REQUEST NO. 3. Explain why you believe ONE and ExFreight Are Indispensable to this proceeding. Provide evidence, including documents, supporting your answer.

RP RESPONSE: “There is no dispute that ONE, the carrier, lost the cargo along with 1,816 containers, according to Claimant's Complaint and the letter from One”

“Furthermore, Claimant has alleged that it re-submitted a claim with Ex-Freight via email, highlight the fact that the claim itself was presumably a duplicate of an existing claim.”

CA REPLY: The assertion that “there is no dispute that ONE, the carrier, lost the cargo...” is in our opinion in contradiction with the new provided evidence KNOTT000039 and KNOTT000030:

“... Without prejudice and on behalf of Ocean Network Express, Pte., Ltd., ... the information that you [Chris Phillips] have provided does not indicate that the shipment was on board the ONE Apus 006E / W nor does it show that the container noted [KCSU8889270/40 HQ] was on the manifest for the vessel.”

“... Our record shows no claim was ever filed with CTL regarding the subject shipment. As of today [02/08/2024], CTL has not been contacted by any subrogation matter from insurance company related to the concerned shipment. All due respect, if no claim was ever filed on your end, it is highly unlikely that the steam ship line settlement included the subject shipment.”

Chris Phillips had repeatedly assured us that the Freight Forwarder had submitted a claim to the Carrier. However, despite these assurances, Aitoh decided to directly file the same claim with ExFreight on March 8th, 2023. The admission that "the claim itself was presumably a duplicate of an existing claim" is used here by the respondent to sustain the fact that a claim was already filed with ExFreight. However, the result of this "re-submission" confirmed that no claim was ever filed, and these new evidences KNOTT000039 and KNOTT000030 confirms Aitoh suspects too.

The advisory and the letter from ONE was provided via e-mail to Aitoh and Chris Phillips by Forin Container Line as "co-loader". Since Forin Container Line stuffed Aitoh's cargo on a different vessel, based on the only evidence provided by the Respondent, it is not clear at all why Forin Container Line sent the message to Aitoh. It is possible that was a mistake from Forin Container Line that should have been caught by Chris Phillips. It is also possible that the intent recipient of the advisory was only Chris Phillips as the Agent of different customers with a cargo on ONE APUS.

Therefore, Aitoh concludes that, based on the new Respondent's documentation, ONE was not the Carrier and neither ExFreight nor Charter Link Logistic ever filed a claim with the Carrier.

REQUEST NO. 4. Provide the house bills of lading, master bills of lading, dock receipt, and other shipping documents for the transportation at issue.

RP RESPONSE: Respondent produces herewith nonprivileged documents bates stamped KNOTT00014-KNOTT00018 that are responsive to this request.

CA REPLY: Surprising it looks like there are no other shipping documents from third party (ExFreight, Charter Link Logistic, ONE, HMM) other than the invoice from Forin Container Line.

Based on KNOTT00014-KNOTT00018, considering that Aitoh's cargo was on the vessel X-Press Jersey Voyage 20010 and that according to the HBL the final destination was Los Angeles, since X-Press Jersey left Chennai on the 14th October 2020 and transited to Singapore and then on to Thailand, it is a likely possibility that the container arrived at destination in December 2020 (ETA 12/13/2020) without accidents /source BigOceanData/.

Consequently, if this scenario holds true, ExFreight—the Freight Forwarder—should have routed the cargo delivery to the Consignee (Aitoh) via US Homeland Customs Security. While this remains speculative, it is a possibility based on the limited documents available.

Moreover, the crucial document—the MBL—that should have been issued by the Carrier (not ONE) is also absent.

REQUEST NO. 5. Did InXpress Americas or InXpress NY file a cargo loss or damage claim for Claimant's cargo? If yes, what was the outcome? Provide evidence supporting your answer. If no, why not? Provide any documents that you as an individual or InXpress as a business filed with any entity regarding the Aitoh cargo loss

RP RESPONSE: Respondent produces herewith nonprivileged documents bates stamped KNOTT00019-KNOTT00048 that are responsive to this request.

CA REPLY: The document KNOTT000019 through KNOTT000023 is mainly an advertising document. Not clear how this document can be responsive to the Request No.5.

The document KNOTT00002 through KNOTT000048 is a thread of e-mails from Chris Phillips to different recipients including ExFreight, Charter Link Logistic, Ocean Network Express, and HMM Co. Ltd. (Hyundai Merchant Marine).

As it is evident from the e-mail from Sherry Johnson on behalf of Ocean Network Express, Pte., Ltd, no claim was submitted with ONE because that shipment was not on board of the ONE Apus 006E.

"... Without prejudice and on behalf of Ocean Network Express, Pte., Ltd., ... the information that you [Chris Phillips] have provided does not indicate that the shipment was on board the ONE Apus 006E / W, nor does it show that the container noted [KCSU8889270/40 HQ] was on the manifest for the vessel." /KNOTT000039/

As it is also confirmed by Charter Link Logistic in KNOTT000030, a claim to the Carrier was never filed with ExFreight nor Charter Link Logistic.

"Our record shows no claim was ever filed with CTL regarding the subject shipment. As of today, CTL has not been contacted by any subrogation matter from insurance company related to the concerned shipment. All due respect, if no claim was ever filed on your end, it is highly unlikely that the steam ship line settlement included the subject shipment.

As CTL is not the claiming party, we do not have any access to matters issued by the steam ship line. We can request our origin office to assist in this case and hopefully their insurance company is willing to release matters from the steam ship line (if any)." /KNOTT000030/

*And from KNOTT000025 looks like the actual Carrier was HMM Co, Ltd.
"Below provided you a contact information to HMM General manager who is in Maritim Legal Affairs & Insurance Team." /KNOTT000025/*

The documentation provided in Response to Request No. 5 does not clearly indicates whether a claim has ever been filed for the loss of the Claimant's cargo and not even who was the Carrier (ONE/HMM) and nor if there is a claim in progress and with whom (HMM/ONE).

Finally, Aitoh infers that the Response to this Request No. 5 implies that in March 2021 nobody filed a claim on our (Aitoh) behalf despite we were assured of the contrary /AITOH-04, AITOH-05/

CONCLUSION: During the editing of this document, we discovered an e-mail from Forin Container Line that was not submitted yet as evidence. This e-mail is included in a thread of e-mails between Chris Phillips (InXpress NY), Forin Container Line (co-loader), Bluecat (the shipper) and Aitoh (the consignee).

In particular, the email dated November 26, 2020 (which is 4 days before the ONE Apus accident) indicates that a transshipment of Aitoh's cargo took place in Singapore (although the exact date is not specified) and that the new container HMMU9017175 was indeed on the vessel ONE APUS 006E.

The content of the e-mail also indicates the Carrier Hyundai (HMM Co. Ltd.), the MBO No. HDMUSGWB0596474, AMS BL MAA20211180, and other important information that has never been taken into consideration in this claim by the Respondents Chris Phillips and Paul Knott. This is surprising but after all normal considering how they have handled the shipment subject of this claim including the submission of the claim on behalf of Aitoh. /AITOH-01/

As we asked Chris Phillips to cover the cargo with insurance, knowing that the insurance companies paid an estimated $39 million in lost cargo claims, Aitoh believes that we could have been reimbursed for the loss in full if a claim was submitted /AITOH-02, AITOH-03/

Beth,

I ran a quote on 2 pallets 48 x 40 x 40 @ a total of 4000 #'s it is a total of 42 transit days via ocean and the rate is $1943.07 that is door to door with customs clearance. Any duty and tax would be owed. That is from the door. Now if you need product you can mix and match, if you get a better idea on size and weight we can get a more accurate quote. Also we you give me the go ahead our agent will contact them.

Chris,

All I have right now is the address. And honestly it is going to be quite hefty. 8000 sheets of paper that each weight at least ½ a pound.

The factory is asking me for information on who they contact or if they will be contacted, and how do they report when the freight is available. My concern was can you pick it up, reasonably from their factory? Generally my manufacturers deliver to a port but these guys don't do that. They want pick up from their factory.

I know you will need ISF, invoice, BOL and all of that, but what else do you need? I am happy to tell give them a list of what we will need. If you can help me with that.

I do want insurance on the freight from their door to mine.

Any idea of how long this will take to get from there to here, and not just to a port but all the way to my door.

Do you have all the stuff you need from me?

Chris,

Couple of questions:

- 1) Did you ever get a decision from Fed Ex freight on that freight they destroyed? I believe we sent in the claim nearly a month ago.
- 2) Can you help me with a freight import from India. The freight is just sheets of handmade paper, I think maybe one or two pallets. But it needs to be picked up at the factory in Bangalore. And then shipped to me here. I think it will need to go sea, as 8000 sheets of 24 x 33 hand made paper will be too heavy to send air.

Can you let me know,

Beth

OK, just wondering how many days charges I am going to have to pay, and why.

Also it is going through Singapore? I can't figure out an ETA date to LA.

One other thing. We will have a pallet ready for pick up tomorrow. I will get it all weighed and all of that and send you details later today.

Beth
