Definition of Unreasonable Refusal To Deal or Negotiate With Respect to Vessel Space Accommodations Provided by an Ocean Common Carrier, 89 Fed. Reg. 59,648 (July 23, 2024)	5

Complainant Orleans International, Inc. (“Orleans” or “Complainant”), by and through its undersigned counsel, respectfully submits this Memorandum in Opposition to Respondent Hapag Lloyd AG’s (“Hapag” or “Respondent” and, collectively with Orleans, the “Parties”) April 27, 2026 Motion to Dismiss (the “Motion”), and states as follows in support of such opposition.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Respondent’s Motion must be denied because it ignores both applicable law, including the well-established pleading standard for complaints filed before the Federal Maritime Commission (the “Commission” or “FMC”), as well as the detailed factual allegations already contained in Complainant’s March 16, 2026 Verified Complaint (“the Complaint”). The Complaint contains 18 pages of substantive factual and legal allegations, far more than enough detail to put Respondent on notice about the detention and demurrage charges and practices being challenged under 46 U.S.C. Sections 41102(c), 41104(a)(10), and, to the extent applicable, 41104(a)(14), as well as under 46 C.F.R. Section 545.5 and the Commission’s Interpretive Rule.

Respondent’s Motion inappropriately seeks dismissal of the Complaint on three grounds, none of which withstands legal scrutiny. First, Respondent argues incorrectly that 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10)’s prohibition on unreasonable refusals to deal or negotiate cannot apply to an ocean carrier’s refusal to deal or negotiate with respect to its imposition of detention and demurrage charges—an argument contradicted by several other FMC proceedings and guidance.

Second, Respondent raises nebulous statute of limitations arguments that are fatally flawed for several reasons. Most fundamentally, the statute that Respondent invokes, 46 U.S.C. Section 41301(a), is, by its plain language, not a statute of limitations on claims under the Shipping Act, but instead a limitation on the time period for which a “complainant may seek” a specific remedy: namely, “reparations for an injury to the complainant caused by the violation.” 46 U.S.C.

§ 41301(a). Accordingly, nothing in that statute creates any time bar or justifies dismissal of any portion of the charges or practices challenged in Complainant’s Complaint. Respondent’s complaints about “vague, imprecise language to describe the accrual period”, Mot. at 3, are not a basis for dismissal of the complaint at this early stage, before even initial disclosures are exchanged. Instead, the accrual date applicable to each such charge, and its respective relationship to the time period for which Complainant may seek monetary reparations (i.e., the three-year period prior to the June 28, 2024 effective date of the Parties’ tolling agreement, which Respondent’s Motion notably does not challenge) will be the subject of fact discovery in this litigation, which has not yet begun. Respondent’s complaints in this connection are also disingenuous because Respondent is already fully aware of the specific charges at issue in this litigation, including the bill of lading numbers, container numbers, ports, vessels, dollar amounts paid, gate out dates, and gate in dates associated with each such charge—all of which were paid by Orleans within three years of the effective date of the Parties’ tolling agreement, and thus timely for purposes of seeking reparations.

Third, Respondent’s Motion seeks to impose on Complainant a heightened pleading standard that is nowhere required by the Shipping Act or the Commission’s Rules of Practice and Procedure (the “Rules”). The Complaint provides far more than the clear and concise recitations of law, factual statements, and allegations regarding damages required by the pleading standard applicable to complaints filed before the Commission. See 46 C.F.R. § 502.62(a). Accordingly, the Complaint more than satisfies the plausibility standard set by the United States Supreme Court in Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544 (2007), and Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662 (2009). To the extent Respondent’s Motion seeks to require Complainant to list out explicitly in its publicly filed Complaint every one of the aforementioned details of which Respondent is already fully aware—i.e., the bill of lading numbers, container numbers, ports, vessels, dollar amounts paid, gate out dates, and gate in dates associated with each charge at issue—then the Motion is more appropriately considered a motion for more definite statement under Rule 67 of the Rules, 46 C.F.R. Section 502.67. To that extent, the Motion could readily be addressed simply by ordering that Exhibit A filed herewith (a spreadsheet containing those details) be incorporated by reference into Complainant’s Complaint, or by directing Complainant to state its case more fully and in more detail by way of amendment pursuant to Rule 66 of the Rules, 46 C.F.R. Section 502.66(a). To the extent any remedy might be considered appropriate at the pleading stage, that remedy clearly is not dismissal.

For the reasons stated herein, Respondent’s Motion should be denied in its entirety.

LEGAL STANDARD

The Commission’s Rules do not explicitly provide for motions to dismiss, but Commission Rule 12 states that the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure will be followed in instances that are not covered by the Commission’s Rules to the extent consistent with sound administrative practice. 46 C.F.R. § 502.12. The “Commission looks to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure . . . 12(b)(6) when considering dismissals based on failure to state a claim.” MAVL Capital v. Marine Transp. Logistics, FMC Dkt. No. 16-16, 2 F.M.C.2d 198, 202, 2020 WL 13512925, at *4 (FMC Oct. 29, 2020).

Under Rule 12(b)(6), at the pleadings stage, the facts alleged by the complainant are taken as true and all reasonable inferences must be drawn in the complainant’s favor. See id. at *5. The focus at the pleadings stage “is not with whether a complainant can prevail on its claim, but whether it has adequately pled the claim.” MCS Indus., Inc. v. COSCO SHIPPING Lines Co., FMC

Dkt. No. 21-05, 2022 WL 458569, at *4 (FMC Chief ALJ Feb. 4, 2022) (“MCS I”) (denying motion to dismiss in its entirety).

A complaint need only “state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570. The plausibility standard “does not impose a probability requirement at the pleading stage; it simply calls for enough fact to raise a reasonable expectation that discovery will reveal evidence” of the alleged misconduct. Id. at 556. A complaint survives a motion to dismiss when the plaintiff pleads “factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. Critically here, where a complainant before the Commission has pleaded detailed factual allegations describing a carrier’s unlawful practices, a motion to dismiss must be denied. See MCS I, 2022 WL 458569 at *5–6; MCS Indus., Inc. v. Mediterranean Shipping Co. S.A., FMC Dkt. No. 21-05, 2024 WL 95383 (FMC Jan. 3, 2024) (“MCS II”) (affirming denial of motion to dismiss in its entirety).

ARGUMENT

I. The Complaint Adequately Pleads a Refusal to Deal Claim Under 46 U.S.C. § 41104(a)(10).

Respondent argues that Complainant’s 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10) claim must be dismissed because the Complaint’s allegations regarding Respondent’s unreasonable refusals to deal or negotiate relate to detention and demurrage charges rather than vessel space accommodations. That argument, however, misunderstands the statute, the purpose and effect of Congress’s amendment of that statute in the Ocean Shipping Reform Act of 2022, Pub. L. No. 117-146, 136 Stat. 1272 (2022) (“OSRA 2022”), and the Commission’s subsequent rulemaking with respect to the amended statute. See 46 C.F.R. § 542.1 (the “Final Rule”). Accordingly, it provides no basis for dismissing the Complaint.

A. 46 U.S.C. § 41102(a)(10)’s Prohibition on Unreasonable Refusals to Deal or Negotiate Can Extend to the Imposition of Detention and Demurrage Charges.

Prior to the enactment of OSRA 2022 on June 16, 2022 (in the midst of the time period relevant to this litigation), 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10) simply provided that a common carrier could not “unreasonably refuse to deal or negotiate”. 46 U.S.C. § 41104(a)(10); see also Canaveral Port Authority - Possible Violations of Section 10(b)(10), Unreasonable Refusal to Deal or Negotiate, FMC Dkt. No. 02-02, 29 S.R.R. 1436, 2003 WL 723336, at *5 n.6 (FMC Feb. 24, 2003) (addressing a prior version of 46 U.S.C. § 41104(a)(10)). OSRA 2022 amended that provision to add the phrase “including with respect to vessel space accommodations provided by an ocean common carrier” 46 U.S.C. § 41104(a)(10) (emphasis added). OSRA 2022 also “required the Commission, in consultation with the United States Coast Guard, to initiate and complete a rulemaking to define the phrase ‘unreasonable refusal to deal or negotiate with respect to vessel space accommodations’ provided by an ocean common carrier to work in conjunction with 46 U.S.C. 41104(a)(10).” Definition of Unreasonable Refusal To Deal or Negotiate With Respect to Vessel Space Accommodations Provided by an Ocean Common Carrier, 89 Fed. Reg. 59,648, 59,648 (July 23, 2024) (codified as corrected at 46 C.F.R. § 542.1) (emphasis added). In other words, OSRA 2022 did not change the scope of 46 U.S.C. 41104(a)(10), but instead simply added language explicitly confirming one example of what was already true prior to OSRA 2022’s enactment; namely, that the scope of 46 U.S.C. 41104(a)(10)’s prohibition included, among other conduct, common carriers’ vessel space accommodations. See 20230930-DK-Butterfly-1, Inc. v. BAL Container Line Co., FMC Dkt. No. 25-01, 2025 WL 2053482, at *2 (FMC CALJ July 16, 2025) (explaining that in OSRA 2022, “Congress added an example to section 41104(a)(10)”). Likewise, the Commission’s Final Rule did not expand or limit the scope of 46 U.S.C. 41104(a)(10)’s prohibition, but instead merely clarified what could constitute an unreasonable refusal to deal or negotiate in the specific context of vessel space accommodations. Nowhere does OSRA 2022 or the Final Rule suggest that 46 U.S.C. 41104(a)(10)’s prohibition does not or cannot extend to carriers’ practices with respect to detention or demurrage charges; indeed, the Final Rules nowhere even mentions detention or demurrage.

Respondent’s argument to the contrary, purportedly based on an order partially granting a motion to dismiss in Samsung Electronics America, Inc. v. Orient Overseas Container Line Ltd., FMC Dkt. No. 24-17, 2024 WL 4893409 (FMC ALJ Nov. 18, 2024), Mot. at 6, is meritless. In that case, the presiding officer dismissed the complainant’s refusal to deal or negotiate claim because of a mismatch between the legal cause of action pled (i.e., an alleged refusal to deal or negotiate with respect to vessel accommodation) and the specific factual allegations that the complainant cited as supporting that legal cause of action, which, as the presiding officer there noted, were “the classic ‘labels, conclusions, or a recitation of the elements’ that do not satisfy the Iqbal-Twombly pleading standard” and, moreover, “ha[d] nothing to do with vessel-space accommodation, but specifically relates to the detention and demurrage practices.” Id. at *12. Nothing in the Samsung decision, however, stands for the proposition that 46 U.S.C. 41104(a)(10)’s prohibitions do not or cannot extend to a carrier’s dealings and negotiations with respect to detention or demurrage charges.¹

Respondent’s interpretation of the Samsung decision is also inconsistent with Commission precedent and persuasive authority from its Administrative Law Judges, including the decisions in OJ Commerce, LLC v. Hamburg Südamerikanische Dampfschiffahrts-Gesellschaft A/S & Co. KG, FMC Dkt. No. 21-11, 2023 WL 3969857 (FMC CALJ June 7, 2023), aff’d, 2024 WL 5714569

¹ Relatedly, nothing in the Samsung decision suggests that OSRA 2022’s addition of a clarifying example to 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10)’s language substantively impacts any discrete portion of Complainant’s claim here, which relates to charges incurred both before and after that language was added to the statute.

(FMC Aug. 27, 2024), in which the Commission’s Chief Administrative Law Judge (and, subsequently, the Commission itself) cited the complainant’s “object[ion] to demurrage fees” as one of the “legitimate concerns” supporting the conclusion that the respondent there had “violated section 41104(a)(10)’s prohibition against refusals to deal.” Id. at *31–32; accord OJ Commerce, LLC v. Hamburg Südamerikanische Dampfschiffahrts-Gesellschaft A/S & Co. KG, FMC Dkt. No. 21-11, 2024 WL 5714569, at *12. The incorrectness of Respondent’s interpretation of Samsung is further reinforced by the fact that multiple other FMC complaints alleging violations of 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10) premised on carriers’ alleged unreasonable refusals to deal or negotiate with respect to detention and demurrage charges have survived motions to dismiss and proceeded through discovery to decisions on the merits. See, e.g., Visual Comfort & Co. v. COSCO Shipping Lines CO., FMC Dkt. No. 24-01 (46 U.S.C. § 41104(a)(10) claim premised entirely on challenged detention and demurrage charges); TZ SSE Buyer, LLC v. COSCO Shipping Lines Co., FMC Dkt. No. 24-09 (same); TZ SSE Buyer, LLC v. Yang Ming Marine Transp. Corp., FMC Dkt. No. 24-10 (same); see also 20230930-DK-Butterfly-1, Inc. f/k/a Bed Bath & Beyond Inc. v. Orient Overseas Container Line Limited, FMC Dkt. No. 23-02, slip op. at 159 (FMC CALJ Apr. 24, 2026) (Initial Decision evaluating whether the evidence showed that the respondent there had “refused to deal or negotiate in imposing detention and demurrage charges”).² Indeed, Respondent itself filed no such motion to dismiss in a prior FMC litigation against it involving claims under 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10) premised on its imposition of detention and demurrage charges.

² In addition to the above examples, several other complaints currently pending before the Commission include 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10) claims premised in part on detention and demurrage charges that have not been challenged or dismissed. See, e.g., Bed Bath & Beyond Inc. v. Yang Ming Marine Transp. Corp., FMC Dkt. No. 23-10 (currently pending Initial Decision); 20230930-DK-Butterfly-1, Inc. f/k/a Bed Bath & Beyond Inc. v. Evergreen Line Joint Service Agreement (FMC#011982), FMC Dkt. No. 24-12 (currently pending merits briefing), 20230930-DK-Butterfly-1, Inc. v. BAL Container Line Co., FMC Dkt. No. 25-01 (currently in discovery); 20230930-DK-Butterfly-1, Inc. v. CMA CGM S.A., FMC Dkt. No. 25-25 (currently pending settlement), Nielsen & Bainbridge, LLC v. Evergreen Line Joint Service Agreement (FMC#011982), FMC Dkt. No. 25-02 (currently in discovery).

See One Banana N. Am. Corp. v. Hapag-Lloyd AG, FMC Dkt. No. 22-03. Accordingly, Respondent's misinterpretation of Samsung must be rejected.

B. The Complaint Adequately Alleges that Respondent Unreasonably Refused to Deal or Negotiate with Complainant and Its Agents in Connection with the Circumstances Leading to the Challenged Detention and Demurrage Charges.

Moreover, in this case, unlike in Samsung, the detailed factual allegations of the Complaint directly match and substantively support Complainant's refusal to deal or negotiate cause of action. The Complaint alleges, clearly and in detail, that despite the diligent, documented efforts of Orleans and its agents to move Orleans's cargo notwithstanding circumstances outside of Complainant's control, Respondent unreasonably refused to deal with Orleans and its agents in connection with those circumstances, which led directly to the assessment of the challenged detention and demurrage charges, and continued to assess those charges even when relief was plainly warranted by the circumstances. See, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 29–31, 33–35, 38, 43–44, 56. These allegations, which will be the subject of discovery in this litigation, are clearly sufficient at the pleadings stage to state a plausible claim for relief under 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10).

Again, at the pleadings stage, the Presiding Officer must draw all reasonable inferences in Complainant's favor. See MAVL Capital, 2020 WL 13512925, at *5. The Complaint's allegations plausibly allege that Respondent's conduct constituted an unreasonable refusal to deal or negotiate with Complainant and Complainant's agents in violation of 46 U.S.C. Section 41104(a)(10), and accordingly may not be dismissed at this stage.

II. Complainant's Shipping Act Claims Are Timely and Appropriately Seek Reparations.

As the Commission has explained:

Unlike other statutory schemes, there is no overarching statute of limitations in the [Shipping] Act—that is, parties are not barred from alleging and proving a violation of the Act at any time. The Act merely prohibits a complainant from seeking reparations for an injury to the complainant if the complaint is filed more than three years after the cause of action accrued.

Maier Terminals, LLC v. Port Auth. of N.Y. & N.J., FMC Dkt. No. 08-03, 2013 WL 9808667, at *8 (FMC Jan. 31, 2013). In the absence of tolling, see, e.g., In re Vehicle Carrier Servs., FMC Dkt. Nos. 16-01, 16-07, 16-10 & 16-11, 2019 WL 5419475, at *18 & n.13 (FMC Oct. 21, 2019), Shipping Act claims generally accrue “when a complainant knew or should have known that it had a cause of action.” Maier, 2013 WL 9808667, at *6. The statute of limitations begins to run only when “the injured party possesses sufficient critical facts to put him on notice that a wrong has been committed and that he need investigate to determine whether he is entitled to redress.” In Re Vehicle Carrier Servs., 2019 WL 5419475, at *20 (quoting Loughlin v. United States, 230 F. Supp. 2d 26, 40 (D.D.C. 2002)).

Respondent seeks to predicate its statute of limitations argument on the Complainant’s straightforward allegation that “[t]he issues leading to the Charges at issue began surfacing in mid-2021”, see Compl. ¶ 33, which Respondent argues constitutes an admission that Complainant already knew or should have known of its claims at that point in time. See Mot at 7–8. That argument, however, is nonsensical: it would entail Complainant’s claims accruing before the detention and demurrage charges at issue were even assessed or paid. Complainant’s claims in this case relate entirely to detention and demurrage charges assessed by Respondent that were paid by Complainant within the three years prior to the June 28, 2024 effective date of the Parties’ tolling agreement, and which therefore are timely filed for purposes of seeking reparations under 46 U.S.C. Section 41301(a).³ Paragraph 33 merely alludes to factual circumstances outside of Complainant’s control that led to the assessment and payment of detention and demurrage charges challenged in this case. References to general industry conditions and the emergence of logistical challenges in mid-2021 do not establish that Orleans had “sufficient critical facts” at that time to know that Respondent would, in the ensuing weeks and months in 2021 and beyond, assess improper detention and demurrage charges in violation of the Shipping Act.

A cause of action challenging unjust and unreasonable detention and demurrage charges does not accrue at the moment a shipper first encounters congestion or logistical difficulties. Instead, it accrues when the shipper is forced to pay detention or demurrage charges that it knew or should have known were unjust and unreasonable. See Maher, 2013 WL 9808667, at *6. The Complaint properly challenges detention and demurrage charges assessed by Respondent that Complainant paid within three years of the effective date of the Parties’ tolling agreement. See, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 57 (alleging that Complainant was injured by being forced “to pay unjust and unreasonable Charges”), 32 (alleging the total amount of challenged detention and demurrage charges paid), 59 (same). The facts and circumstances surrounding the assessment and payment of each such charge will be the subject of discovery in this case and cannot be resolved at the pleadings stage on a motion to dismiss.

Respondent has not borne its burden to show that any portion of Complainant’s claims is time-barred, and its arguments regarding the statute of limitations must be rejected.

III. The Complaint More Than Satisfies the Commission’s Pleading Standard for Claims Challenging Demurrage and Detention Charges.

A. The Complaint Adequately Pleads a Cognizable “Practice” Under 46 U.S.C. § 41102(c) and 46 C.F.R. §§ 545.4 and 545.5.

The Commission has promulgated specific guidance on the essential elements to be proven to prevail on a claim for reparations under 46 U.S.C. Section 41102(c), see 46 C.F.R. § 545.4, and on “how the Commission will interpret 46 U.S.C. 41102(c) and § 545.4(d) in the context of demurrage and detention.” 46 C.F.R. § 545.5. Neither of these regulations purports to impose a heightened pleading standard, but even if they did, the Complaint here would readily fulfill such a standard. It clearly alleges acts or omissions by an ocean common carrier (i.e., Respondent) occurring on a normal, customary, and continuous basis over an extended period of time (i.e., 2021 onward) constituting a practice or regulation related to or connected with the receiving, handling, storing, or delivering of Complainant’s property (i.e., the assessment of detention and demurrage charges on the containers containing Complainant’s cargo) that was the proximate cause of Complainant’s claimed loss (i.e., being forced to pay such detention and demurrage charges). See, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 3–4, 23, 27–31, 33, 35, 37–38, 43 (alleging that Respondent systematically assessed detention and demurrage charges paid by Orleans in circumstances where Orleans and its agents were unable to pick up or return containers timely due to factors outside their control, including congestion at ports and inspection facilities and related supply chain disruptions). In addition to these allegations, which describe an ongoing pattern of conduct, and not just isolated incidents, the Complaint also includes concrete examples of specific incidents of this pattern of conduct during the relevant time period. See, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 40, 42, 44.

Respondent argues that the Complaint’s use of the phrase “at least a substantial majority”, see, e.g., Compl. ¶ 3, is a “tacit acknowledgment” that not all charges within the relevant time period are at issue. Mot. at 11–12. But that argument would turn the applicable Rule 12(b)(6) standard on its head. The Complaint’s use of that phrase merely reflects appropriate care in pleading, not a pre-discovery concession that any particular detention and demurrage charges were just and reasonable. Respondent’s argument would effectively require initial complaints to resemble full-fledged motions for summary judgment, but without the benefit of written or documentary discovery, deposition testimony, or even initial disclosures. That level of detail, however, is emphatically not required at the pleadings stage. See Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570. Respondent’s efforts to impose a heightened pleading standard must be rejected.

B. Respondent’s Demand for Container-by-Container Specificity at the Pleadings Stage Is Unnecessary and Contrary to Commission Practice.

Perhaps the strangest aspect of Respondent’s Motion is its argument that the Complaint should be dismissed because it does not explicitly list each and every specific container, shipment, and invoice at issue. See Mot. at 13–14. In doing so, Respondent apparently is seeking to conflate the container-by-container analysis that the Presiding Officer will have to undertake in determining the reasonableness of the challenged demurrage and detention charges at the end of the case with the notice pleading standard that Complainant must meet at the very beginning of the case.

This argument, like Respondent’s other arguments, has no support in Commission precedent and should be rejected. To the contrary, decisions in prior cases before the FMC’s Administrative Law Judges have recognized that complaints alleging systemic practices of unjust and unreasonable conduct need not identify each individual container or invoice at issue at the pleadings stage. See, e.g., Samsung Elecs. Am., Inc. v. COSCO Shipping Lines Co., FMC Dkt. No. 24-16, 2025 WL 1126006, at *17 (FMC ALJ Apr. 11, 2025) (rejecting respondent’s demand for greater specificity, including shipment-by-shipment pleading, because “Rule 62 does not require that a complaint allege reparations on a shipment-by-shipment basis” and recent precedent did “not add such a requirement”); MCS I, 2022 WL 458569 at *6. Requiring explicit container-by-container allegations at the pleadings stage would be particularly inappropriate in cases like this one, involving COVID-19-era detention and demurrage charges, not only because of the staggering volume of such charges assessed and paid during the pandemic, but also because the documentation of such charges prior to and during the pandemic, when it was made available, at all, was frequently so opaque or confusing that Congress had to intervene by mandating in OSRA 2022 that invoices contain certain specific contents. See 46 U.S.C. §§ 41104(a)(14), 41104(a)(15) & 41104(d).

Moreover, the Commission’s own pleading guidance, both in the Rules and on the Commission’s website, confirms that no greater specificity is required.⁴ Respondent argues that the Complaint fails to satisfy the Commission’s requirement that a complainant provide “[a] clear and concise factual statement sufficient to inform each respondent with reasonable definiteness of the acts or practices alleged to be in violation of the law”, Mot. at 12–13 (quoting 46 C.F.R. § 502.62(a)(3)(iii)), but as reflected in the Complaint itself, and as further argued herein, the Complaint more than satisfies that and the other requirements of Rule 62(a). Accordingly, Respondent cannot credibly claim that it lacks fair notice of the nature of the claims it must defend. See MAVL Capital, 2020 WL 13512925, at *5 (the applicable pleading standard requires “‘fair notice’ of the nature of the claims and bases for asserting them”) (citing Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 677 & Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555).

Respondent’s argument that allowing Complainant to proceed on its existing Complaint would “substantially increase the complexity, time, and costs of these proceedings,” Mot. at 14, is precisely backward. Dismissing the Complaint, or forcing Complainant to file an amended complaint alleging exhaustive, container-by-container details already known to Respondent, would increase the time and costs of these proceedings—which may be precisely what Respondent wants to achieve with its meritless Motion. The Presiding Officer should deny the Motion and allow this case to proceed to discovery and merits briefing.

⁴ See 46 C.F.R. § 502.62(a); <https://www.fmc.gov/complaints-and-assistance/filing-a-formal-complaint/instructions-for-drafting-a-shipping-act-complaint/>; <https://www.fmc.gov/complaints-and-assistance/filing-a-formal-complaint/>.

C. Respondent Is Already Fully Aware of the Additional Details It Purports to Seek and Its Motion Is Little More Than a Motion for More Definite Statement.

As detailed above, Respondent's complaints about the volume of factual specificity in the Complaint provide no basis for dismissal of any portion of the Complaint, much less any dismissal with prejudice. At best, Respondent's Motion might be considered a motion for more definite statement under Rule 67 of the Rules, 46 C.F.R. Section 502.67. The remedy for such a motion, however, is not dismissal, but instead simply a direction to Complainant to state its case more fully and in more detail by way of amendment pursuant to Rule 66 of the Rules, 46 C.F.R. Section 502.66(a). Although, as argued above, the allegations in the Complaint are already more than sufficient to meet the applicable pleading standard and defeat Respondent's Motion, Complainant respectfully submits that any claimed shortcomings in the Complaint could readily be addressed simply by ordering that Exhibit A hereto—a spreadsheet listing the bill of lading numbers, container numbers, ports, vessels, dollar amounts paid, gate out dates, and gate in dates associated with each detention and demurrage charge at issue in this case⁵—be incorporated by reference into Complainant's Complaint.

Respondent's contention that it cannot "assess the scope of the claims it must defend" without the Complaint explicitly including a container-by-container list, Mot. at 13, is particularly disingenuous. Not only was Respondent itself the one that assessed the charges at issue, and thus a party with firsthand knowledge of the charges at issue, but as noted at the outset, Respondent is also already fully aware of the details of each of the charges at issue in this litigation because Complainant shared those details directly with Respondent long before the filing of the ⁵ All of the detention and demurrage charges listed in Exhibit A, including the handful that reflect container gate out and/or gate in dates more than three years prior to the effective date of the Parties' tolling agreement, were paid by Orleans within three years of that date, and therefore are properly the subject of Complainant's request for reparations.

Complaint. Accordingly, Respondent has far more than adequate notice of the nature and specifics of Complainant's claims.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, Complainant respectfully requests that the Presiding Officer deny Respondent's Motion in its entirety. In the alternative, should the Presiding Officer conclude that any portion of the Complaint requires greater specificity, Complainant respectfully requests leave to amend the Complaint, including without limitation incorporating Exhibit A hereto into the Complaint by reference, to provide such additional detail as the Presiding Officer may require.
